Apple Translations

Top quality translations for a very competitive rate!

No bite out of your budget

AppleTranslations.com is a very modern and efficient translation agency. We are a cooperation of a small group of experienced translators, all 'native speakers'. Do you have a text that you want to have translated accurately and quickly? You can contact our translation agency by sending an email to info@appletranslations.com or call us on +31 (0)20 - 820 8977.

Clear and consistent

Apple Translations is no ordinary translation agency but a cooperation of a small group of experienced translators. That's why AppleTranslations.com can work more cost-effectively and we are extremely motivated and very quality conscious! The translations Apple Translations provides, are always clear and consistent in their choice of vocabulary and suitable for your target group. We provide accurate, fluent, and natural sentences that appear to be written in the language concerned.

A passion for language

The translators at AppleTranslations.com have a passion for language and naturally for translating itself. Our translators check each others' work, read your translations several times, and make corrections where necessary before handing over the translated text. All translations by our translation agency are tailor-made. Although we are a very modern translation agency, we preferably do not make use of so-called translation software as mostly this is not beneficial to the quality. Apple Translations does make use of an inhouse-made programme to ensure consistency in word usage.

A very competitive rate of Euro 0,10 per word

Because we charge a fixed rate, you know exactly where you stand and you can easily calculate how much it will cost to have a document translated by our translation agency. In some situations, for example for large assignments or in case there is no pressing deadline, AppleTranslations.com can offer an even more competitive rate. Contact our translation agency for more information. The rates are excluding VAT.

Determining the word count

You can see the total number of words of a specific document in the left corner in Microsoft Word (version 2007 and higher) when the status bar is opened. In Microsoft Word 2003 you can view the amount of words by clicking 'Tools' and 'Word count'. If you divide this amount by 10, you will have the total price for a translation by Apple Translations (excluding VAT). That is how easy our translation agency works!

4 easy steps

- You send your text or website URL to our translation agency via email, together with your desired deadline.
- AppleTranslations.com confirms the total price and the deadline.
- You confirm by email.
- You will receive your translated text by email on, or prior to, the date agreed, together with the digital invoice.
